

2d Anniversary "Opening" & Sale TO-DAY AND SATURDAY, OCT. 11 AND 12.

Music To-night Until 10. Flowers.

We are upon the threshold, and about to enter, into the third year of our business career in Washington. Words fail us in expressing our appreciation of the unstinted patronage bestowed upon us during the past two years. We shall certainly consider it an honor and cordially greet you during our "Anniversary Opening" Days. The store will be appropriately decorated, and to-night from 7:30 to 10 o'clock we shall entertain you with music. Although young, counting the years of the business as a firm, the members thereof, as you know, have had a long and varied experience in the Clothing business. This experience and knowledge as clerks, coming in direct contact with you and your individual Clothing wants, has given us a big advantage over other firms. It enables us to give you better Clothing, more satisfactory Clothing, for less money than the others can or care to give. We are striving diligently to make this your store—to make you feel at home—to give you at all times a full equivalent for your money, and stand ready to return you your money should you change your mind or the Clothing not prove satisfactory.

Although we have continually quoted the lowest prices ours is not a "cheap" Clothing store. Our boast is "best qualities for the least money." 'Twas for this reason we were given the contract for supplying the uniforms for the High School Cadets. Others quoted a little lower price, but our quality and workmanship was so far superior that we were given the contract.

A feature of the "Opening" will be an attractive display of Football Goods, Boxing, Fencing, Athletic Goods, and Gymnasium Paraphernalia on our Third Floor. The largest and most comprehensive stock of its kind in this city.

3 Gifts To the Children

At the expense of a great deal of travel and considerable money we have secured three of the "cutest" little ponies and pony carts you ever saw. These we propose to present to our little boy and girl friends under sixteen years of age—one pony and cart each month—the first of November, the first of December, and the first of January.

The conditions are these:

The boy or girl under sixteen years of age who influences for us the largest amount of trade from now until October 31st will be given the first little pony and cart on November 1st.

The second and third little pony and cart will be given away on December 1st and January 1st under the same conditions.

You have only to speak to your friends and ask them to inspect our stock when they get ready to buy, and tell them should they buy to please have the amount credited to your name. We give you a card and will send for you to have the amount credited on your card.

A strict account of your name and the amount of your friend's purchase on our book and on your card will be kept. The three little ponies will be driven up and down in front of our establishment all day to-day—except the little time they will be fed. Let the children come and see them.

Parker, Bridget & Co.,

Leading Clothiers, 315 Seventh St.

WON BY THE TIMES TEAM

They Defeated the Post's Aggregation in a Well Played Game.

It Was for Printer Nolle's Benefit and a Big Crowd Saw the Interesting Contest.

Baseball teams from the composing rooms of The Times and the Post came together at National Park last evening, and after six interesting innings The Times was victorious.

It was a battle royal, and each club worked hard for superiority. It was not until the last inning, however, that the men from The Times were able to clinch the victory.

The game was out of the ordinary, and was full of side-splitting incidents from start to finish; there was enough amusement crowded into the contest for half a dozen ordinary games, and in this respect surpassed all the contests of the major league that have taken place at the National Park this season.

The slug-batters were most handy with the stick, possibly because they are a little more accustomed to its use than the ordinary individual, and, on the other hand, to render the spectators of the old-time "stugging" matches.

This was the feature, however, that gave the game its interest, keeping the spectators in a state of feverish excitement, and preventing them from succumbing to the chilling blasts that swept across the field, carrying with them suggestions of the north pole.

The sixth inning was one of much excitement, and when the Post aggregation finished their half of the contest, the Times people were kept guessing for the next few minutes. Farrell, who took Lerch's place, was the first Times man in the sixth, and he was the one to make a nice three-bagger, he was tapped out at the plate. The next man to take his stand at the rubber was Mr. Corcoran.

North Carolina's excellent work, he sent the sphere in the direction of left field for three bases and held right on to the third.

As luck would have it, his sent another three-bagger into center field, and the Times man was responsible for a nice single at this point, and which Dix scored the winning run, and the Times men were in the lead. Simpson and Handcock were in the points for The Times, and their work reminded us of the boys in their palmy days, for while they did not succeed in stemming the batting streak of the Post types, they kept them guessing in some cases of fielding.

The game was for the benefit of W. W. Nolle, a disabled union printer, and his friends on both teams took this opportunity of showing their appreciation of him by presenting him with the proceeds of the game.

The gloom cast over the Baltimore baseball game by the loss of the Temple Cup, was dispelled last night in the brilliancy of an electric ball game, which was the biggest and most unique celebration of the kind ever seen in any other ball-park town. For three hours sixty gaily decorated cars, ablaze with electric lights, and a hundred thousand more people along the route of the procession joined in the noisy demonstration. A grand banquet and ball followed the trophy parade.

It is rumored that several important changes will be made in the personnel of the Philadelphia ball club next season. Manager to succeed Arthur Irwin has already been chosen, and his name is William Stein. He will be succeeded by Boyle, of New York, who will be placed in charge of the team. It is also said that Billy Hamilton and Hamilton will go.

The new Southern Racing Association at Macdon, Ga., failed to pay its purses on Monday and Tuesday, and the Jockey Club refused to allow the races scheduled for Wednesday to be run. There are 12 horses at the track, and stables, owners, jockeys, and, in fact, everybody at the track, are in a bad way financially.

It was announced at the Gravesend race track yesterday that Sir Excess, who was purchased by Western, will be sent to Croker for $10,000, will be shipped to England in about ten days. It is also likely that Mr. Croker will take Key del Carriers to England with him, as the deal has not yet been consummated.

Hard luck is striking the Cornell football team. The worst of it, however, will lay him up for the rest of the season from Starbuck's injury last Saturday proved to be the tearing of shoulder ligaments, the same as Fitch two weeks ago. On Monday White, tackle, received a bad twist of the right ankle which will lay him off for several days.

No better evidence of the squareness of baseball could be adduced than the decided way in which New York won the Cup last year and Cleveland this. If seven games had been played either year more money would have been made by the players, but the public would have cried "hippodrome."

Charles (Kid) McCoy, the middleweight, announced by his trainers, will leave in a day or two for England, where he will challenge Dan Creighton, should Creighton prove successful in his match with Frank Craig (the "Coffee-Cooler") otherwise McCoy will meet Ted Pritchard before the Bollingbrook Sporting Club.

At a meeting held in Richmond last night of prominent horsemen of Virginia and North Carolina, a racing circuit of those two States, to be known as the Virginia and North Carolina circuit, was formally organized. George McElroy was named as temporary president, and T. A. B. Brine as temporary secretary.

The University of Pennsylvania football team will leave for Philadelphia tomorrow morning to play at Franklin Field, near Philadelphia. Great interest is centered in the game, as it is expected it will materially show the strength of the U. P. line, which has been considered somewhat weaker than last year.

The team took their final practice yesterday, and Capt. Grosscup put his men through a system of signals that will be used in to-morrow's game.

The Laurel football team, of Laurel, Md., will meet the Gonzaga College eleven in this city the latter part of the present month. The Laurel team is said to have been considerably strengthened since last season.

President Milbank, of the Princeton football team, stated yesterday that Capt. Leonard had been misquoted as a so-called Harvard game, and says that no challenge has yet been received from Harvard, stating that he would be pretentious to state what Princeton would do in case such a challenge should be received.

John L. Sullivan, "Parson" Davies and Joe Chynski were in Pittsburgh last night to arrange for a benefit. Sullivan said the choice of Hot Springs for the big fight was a wise one and that he would not act as referee.

All Stealing for Arkansas.

Short Story

Of Wonderful Grocery Prices

Best Irish Potatoes, per bush. 47c
6 large cans Baked Beans 45c
10 lbs Rolled Oats 25c
10 lbs New Rice 25c
6 lbs Ginger Snaps 25c
7 lbs Glass Starch 25c
3 lbs Strictly Pure Lard 25c
Good Lard 25c
6 lbs Boneless Codfish 25c
4 packages Macaroni 25c
2 cakes Laundry Soap 25c
7 boxes Sardines (in oil) 25c

J. T. D. Pyles,

STORES—412 1/2th St., Corner 3rd and 4th Aves. No. 157th St. No. 134 1/2th St. N.W., Washington and Monroe Aves., Annapolis.

Telephone. Write Call.

CULP HELD FOR HIS DEATH

Coroner's Jury Thought Dougherty Died From the Man's Kicks.

Witnesses Tell the Story of the Assault in Which the Lad Received the Alleged Fatal Blow.

John A. Culp was committed to jail yesterday afternoon as the result of the coroner's inquest, charging him with the death of Jeremiah Dougherty, the fourteen-year-old boy, who died at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, and who, it is alleged, was fatally kicked by Culp while playing on the flying horses at the corner of Sixth street and Virginia avenue southwest, as exclusively told in The Evening Times at the time of the occurrence.

As reported in The Times, young Dougherty, with several playmates, and a crowd of on-lookers, were all playing around the gate. They were not more than boys usually are, but suddenly Culp, who has charge of the horses, and who was sitting in a chair inside the fence, is said to have rushed down to the gate and kicked Dougherty in the right side.

The boy fell to the ground, where he lay for a few seconds, unable to even cry out. When he caught his breath he managed to scramble to his feet and went home, crying and holding his hand to his side.

That night his side was lacerated by his mother, and a couple of days later a physician was called in. Young Jerry was put to bed, and remained there until his death.

Deputy Coroner Glazebrook performed an autopsy yesterday afternoon, after which a jury was empaneled, and the case was taken up by the coroner's jury. The defendant was represented by Mr. Joseph Shillington, and Assistant District Attorney Stinson appeared for the government. Dr. Glazebrook testified that he performed the autopsy, and found the liver very much congested and twice its normal size.

The bowels were natted, and local peritonitis had set in. A rupture on the left side of the abdomen was found, and a half-way up the right kidney, half a gallon of pus escaped from the chest. The rupture of the kidney could only have been caused, the deputy coroner stated, by some violent blow.

Mr. John Carraher, the attending physician, testified that the primary cause of the boy's death, he thought, was due to the injury on his right side.

Samuel Hess, one of the dead boy's playmates, stated he was with Dougherty on his fatal visit to the flying horses and saw Culp kick him, and saw Jerry get up holding his side.

George Green, a colored boy, living at 1230 K street southwest, was the next witness, and testified that he only saw Culp kick at Dougherty's once, but did not see his foot strike him. It was brought out at the inquest, however, that Green worked for Culp.

Mrs. Mary Dougherty, the mother of the dead boy, testified that Jerry complained the night he was kicked of a pain in his right side, and that she examined him and found a swelling to which she applied a bandage.

Maurice Dougherty, a brother of the deceased, swore he saw Culp rush out and kick his brother three times.

Harry Ellis, of No. 750 Sixth street southwest, testified that on one occasion Culp had kicked him for playing about the horses.

Henry Roach, of Anacostia, was the next witness examined and said he was at the flying horses on the night of September 12, and saw Culp kick young Dougherty in the side three times, feeling him to the earth. He saw no reason why Culp should have kicked the boy.

This concluded the testimony, and the room was cleared for the jury. After deliberating about half an hour, they returned the following verdict:

"We, the jury, believe, from the evidence adduced, that Jeremiah Dougherty came to his death, October 10, 1895, from an injury inflicted on him by a kick or kicks by John A. Culp on the night of September 12, 1895, and we further believe, from the evidence, that the said John A. Culp is responsible for the death of the said Jeremiah Dougherty, but without malice or intention to do serious bodily harm."

Dr. Hammett made out a jail commitment for Culp, and he was taken from the house directly to the jail, his bondsman surrendering him. A death certificate for young Dougherty was also issued, and the duties of the coroner were over.

The jury that held Culp was composed of Messrs. John T. Bland, Charles W. Bland, Edward W. Sansbury, Alexander Davidson, Frederick Collins, and W. H. Taylor. The funeral of Dougherty will take place Saturday.

Rev. Jimmie Cook, THE BOY PREACHER, DESPONDENT AND HOPELESS.

I have suffered for years with the worst form of catarrh—offensive discharges, buzzing in ears, pains in chest, violent cough, constant hawking and spitting. My whole nervous system was a wreck. After trying various remedies without relief, about one month ago I began using Dr. Geo. W. Fisher's Catarrh Cure; am now entirely well.

I give this testimonial without solicitation, thinking it my duty to let the world know there is one positive cure for this dreadful disease.

Price, 10 cents. By All Druggists. Krick Chem. Co., Wholesale Agents, 1700 Pa. Ave. N. W., Washington, D. C.

There's a surprise awaiting you in that Children's Clothing Stock of ours.

The size of it—the variety—the smallness of the prices are all something unusual. No matter what your ideas or what your price may be we have the suit to fit both.

Reader Suits, with large collars and lastingly braided buttons and cuffs (4 to 8-year sizes) $2.50

Boys' All-wool Black Cheviot Double-breasted Long Pants Suits, 14 to 18-year sizes $7.00

They're just two ideas. Call and look around for yourself.

Loeb & Hirsh,

The Clothiers, Shirtmakers, Outfitters.

910-912 F St. N. W.

MONEY WANTED AND TO LOAN.

WANTED—Would like to borrow on approved real estate in the District of Columbia, or elsewhere, for $2500 to $5000, quick action. RUBINSON, this office. oc10-12

MONEY: MONEY: MONEY!

We have it. We will lend it. We want to have it. All we want is satisfactory real estate security. Come to us with your property and we will tell you what we will do as soon as we examine the property. C. D. ANDERSON & CO.

Real Estate and Business Exchange, 907 G St.

We have the following amounts to loan on approved real estate in the District of Columbia, or elsewhere, for $2500 to $5000, quick action. RUBINSON, this office. oc10-12

W. H. K. FULTON'S Loan Office, 1213 H St. N. W.

W. H. K. FULTON'S Loan Office, 1213 H St. N. W. Established in 1870. Money loaned on watches, diamonds, jewelry, silverware, and silverware. au20-6m

MONEY to loan on bonds, stocks, trusts, loan association certificates, and old line life insurance policies. No delay. E. H. ELLIS & BAKER, 40 to 46 Metzerott Bldg.

MONEY TO LOAN—in large sums, or as low as $1000, at 6 and 8 per cent. D. C. real estate also $2500 to $7500, etc., at 4 per cent. WM. H. SAUNDERS & CO., 1407 F St. N. W.

MONEY TO LOAN—All classes of real estate loans, including mortgages, current loans, and loans on real estate. THE MCGILLIEN REAL ESTATE AND LOAN COMPANY, corner 15th and H streets. oc10-14

WANTED—The loan of $8,000 on first-class real estate. No agents. 708 19th St. oc12-17

MONEY to loan at 5 and 6 per cent, on district of Columbia realty; no delay if security is satisfactory. J. H. HARRIS, 1414 H St. N. W. oc10-14

FOR RENT—House No. 221 F St. N. W., near the Pension Office; in good order; 6 rooms; deep yard; back yard; terms $20.50 advance. Inquire of D. CONNELL, 1210 H St. N. W. oc10-31m

FOR RENT—12-room dwelling and store building, 1323 Rhode Island ave. N. W., near the Pension Office; in good order; no rent; $20.50 advance. Inquire of D. CONNELL, 1210 H St. N. W. oc10-31m

FOR RENT—Large 10-room brick; all modern; 11, 905 G St. N. W.; $25.50. Key at 1849 5th St. N. W. oc10-11m

FOR RENT—$18.50—Brick house, No. 1449 G St. N. W.; 6 rooms, bath, water, gas, yard; house arranged for two families; open for inspection. oc10-11m

FOR RENT—By owner, very desirable house on 1st St. N. W., near the Pension Office; in good order; 6 rooms; deep yard; back yard; terms $20.50 advance. Inquire of D. CONNELL, 1210 H St. N. W. oc10-31m

FOR RENT—Two 6-room houses on 13th St. N. W., near and sewer, $8 each. Five on 14th St. N. W., near and sewer, $10 each. 218 5th St. N. W., 8 rooms, cellar, bath, mod. inst., $30.50. R. H. ATWELL, 204 E. Cap. St. oc10-8m

FOR RENT—926 N. C. ave. S. E., 8 rooms and bath, stable, $35; 37 1/2 St. N. W., new, 9 rooms, $25; 609 15th St. N. W., 6 rooms and bath, $15.50; 814 St. N. W., 10 rooms and bath, $15.50; 7-room dwelling, $16.50. F. J. DILLON, Room 23, Ohio National Bank Bldg. oc10-11m

FOR RENT—20 11th St. N. W., near Smithsonian, containing 10 rooms, bath, and all modern. Inquire of C. H. CHURCH, 510 F St. N. W., or 306 11th St. N. W. oc11-4m

WANTED to say, $12.50 per month buys you a home, no other payments. Call on J. E. ROPE, Real Estate Agent, 426 5th St. N. W. oc10-11m

FOR SALE—On 12th St. N. W., only 200 feet from H St., cable car pressed brick, 10 rooms, mod. inst., $17.50. Front, for $3,100; former price, $4,000; $800 cash, balance if you want, rent $2.50; only $600 cash. JOHN F. DONOHUE, 308 E. Cap. St. oc10-11m

FOR SALE—$2,000 for 8-room frame house, 709 12th St. N. W., 18x17 ft. to 30-foot paved alley; house has all mod. inst.; cheap at $2,000; look at it key. JOHN F. DONOHUE, 308 E. Cap. St. oc10-11m

FOR SALE—Brick house, a m. l. half square from new house; 223 A St. N. W. Apply at residence. oc10-11m

FOR SALE—No reasonable offer received for Tom Hood, for instance, the best tested against blinding the undertaker, who had blundered into coming before the great wit was dead, and said that the man had "only come to run a lively hood"—is known to be decidedly apocryphal.

Nevertheless, a remark somewhat of the same sort, which is attributed to Lord Chesterfield in his last illness, is undoubtedly authentic. Chesterfield was very ill and his death was only a matter of a few weeks, but his physician advised that he be taken out for an easy drive in his carriage, and he went out.

As the equipage was proceeding slowly along it was met by a lady, who remarked pleasantly to the great invalid: "Ah, my lord, I am glad to see you able to drive out."

"I am not driving out, madam," answered Chesterfield; "I am simply rehearsing my funeral."—Youth's Companion.

A Grim Jest.

Deathbed jokes are generally not authentic. The celebrated one attributed to Tom Hood, for instance, the best tested against blinding the undertaker, who had blundered into coming before the great wit was dead, and said that the man had "only come to run a lively hood"—is known to be decidedly apocryphal.

Nevertheless, a remark somewhat of the same sort, which is attributed to Lord Chesterfield in his last illness, is undoubtedly authentic. Chesterfield was very ill and his death was only a matter of a few weeks, but his physician advised that he be taken out for an easy drive in his carriage, and he went out.

As the equipage was proceeding slowly along it was met by a lady, who remarked pleasantly to the great invalid: "Ah, my lord, I am glad to see you able to drive out."

"I am not driving out, madam," answered Chesterfield; "I am simply rehearsing my funeral."—Youth's Companion.

A Grim Jest.

Deathbed jokes are generally not authentic. The celebrated one attributed to Tom Hood, for instance, the best tested against blinding the undertaker, who had blundered into coming before the great wit was dead, and said that the man had "only come to run a lively hood"—is known to be decidedly apocryphal.

Nevertheless, a remark somewhat of the same sort, which is attributed to Lord Chesterfield in his last illness, is undoubtedly authentic. Chesterfield was very ill and his death was only a matter of a few weeks, but his physician advised that he be taken out for an easy drive in his carriage, and he went out.

As the equipage was proceeding slowly along it was met by a lady, who remarked pleasantly to the great invalid: "Ah, my lord, I am glad to see you able to drive out."

"I am not driving out, madam," answered Chesterfield; "I am simply rehearsing my funeral."—Youth's Companion.

A Grim Jest.

Deathbed jokes are generally not authentic. The celebrated one attributed to Tom Hood, for instance, the best tested against blinding the undertaker, who had blundered into coming before the great wit was dead, and said that the man had "only come to run a lively hood"—is known to be decidedly apocryphal.

Nevertheless, a remark somewhat of the same sort, which is attributed to Lord Chesterfield in his last illness, is undoubtedly authentic. Chesterfield was very ill and his death was only a matter of a few weeks, but his physician advised that he be taken out for an easy drive in his carriage, and he went out.

As the equipage was proceeding slowly along it was met by a lady, who remarked pleasantly to the great invalid: "Ah, my lord, I am glad to see you able to drive out."

"I am not driving out, madam," answered Chesterfield; "I am simply rehearsing my funeral."—Youth's Companion.

A Grim Jest.

Deathbed jokes are generally not authentic. The celebrated one attributed to Tom Hood, for instance, the best tested against blinding the undertaker, who had blundered into coming before the great wit was dead, and said that the man had "only come to run a lively hood"—is known to be decidedly apocryphal.

Nevertheless, a remark somewhat of the same sort, which is attributed to Lord Chesterfield in his last illness, is undoubtedly authentic. Chesterfield was very ill and his death was only a matter of a few weeks, but his physician advised that he be taken out for an easy drive in his carriage, and he went out.

As the equipage was proceeding slowly along it was met by a lady, who remarked pleasantly to the great invalid: "Ah, my lord, I am glad to see you able to drive out."

"I am not driving out, madam," answered Chesterfield; "I am simply rehearsing my funeral."—Youth's Companion.

A Grim Jest.

Deathbed jokes are generally not authentic. The celebrated one attributed to Tom Hood, for instance, the best tested against blinding the undertaker, who had blundered into coming before the great wit was dead, and said that the man had "only come to run a lively hood"—is known to be decidedly apocryphal.

Nevertheless, a remark somewhat of the same sort, which is attributed to Lord Chesterfield in his last illness, is undoubtedly authentic. Chesterfield was very ill and his death was only a matter of a few weeks, but his physician advised that he be taken out for an easy drive in his carriage, and he went out.

As the equipage was proceeding slowly along it was met by a lady, who remarked pleasantly to the great invalid: "Ah, my lord, I am glad to see you able to drive out."

"I am not driving out, madam," answered Chesterfield; "I am simply rehearsing my funeral."—Youth's Companion.

A Grim Jest.

Deathbed jokes are generally not authentic. The celebrated one attributed to Tom Hood, for instance, the best tested against blinding the undertaker, who had blundered into coming before the great wit was dead, and said that the man had "only come to run a lively hood"—is known to be decidedly apocryphal.

Nevertheless, a remark somewhat of the same sort, which is attributed to Lord Chesterfield in his last illness, is undoubtedly authentic. Chesterfield was very ill and his death was only a matter of a few weeks, but his physician advised that he be taken out for an easy drive in his carriage, and he went out.

As the equipage was proceeding slowly along it was met by a lady, who remarked pleasantly to the great invalid: "Ah, my lord, I am glad to see you able to drive out."

"I am not driving out, madam," answered Chesterfield; "I am simply rehearsing my funeral."—Youth's Companion.

A Grim Jest.

Deathbed jokes are generally not authentic. The celebrated one attributed to Tom Hood, for instance, the best tested against blinding the undertaker, who had blundered into coming before the great wit was dead, and said that the man had "only come to run a lively hood"—is known to be decidedly apocryphal.

Nevertheless, a remark somewhat of the same sort, which is attributed to Lord Chesterfield in his last illness, is undoubtedly authentic. Chesterfield was very ill and his death was only a matter of a few weeks, but his physician advised that he be taken out for an easy drive in his carriage, and he went out.

As the equipage was proceeding slowly along it was met by a lady, who remarked pleasantly to the great invalid: "Ah, my lord, I am glad to see you able to drive out."

"I am not driving out, madam," answered Chesterfield; "I am simply rehearsing my funeral."—Youth's Companion.

A Grim Jest.

Deathbed jokes are generally not authentic. The celebrated one attributed to Tom Hood, for instance, the best tested against blinding the undertaker, who had blundered into coming before the great wit was dead, and said that the man had "only come to run a lively hood"—is known to be decidedly apocryphal.

Nevertheless, a remark somewhat of the same sort, which is attributed to Lord Chesterfield in his last illness, is undoubtedly authentic. Chesterfield was very ill and his death was only a matter of a few weeks, but his physician advised that he be taken out for an easy drive in his carriage, and he went out.

As the equipage was proceeding slowly along it was met by a lady, who remarked pleasantly to the great invalid: "Ah, my lord, I am glad to see you able to drive out."

"I am not driving out, madam," answered Chesterfield; "I am simply rehearsing my funeral."—Youth's Companion.

Auction Sales.

RATCLIFFE, SUTTON & CO., Auctioneers.

Successors to Ratcliffe, Sutton & Co